ON ONE of your trips across America, stop at Salt Lake City to get acquainted with the Angel Moroni and all the land that stretches around him. Moroni, very big in bright gold, stands above the Temple built by Brigham Young, for his "Latter Day Saints."

Young has gone, with all his wives, let us hope, to the reward of daring men. Polygamy has gone, but the golden Moroni still stands high in air, his trumpet tilted up toward the mountains full of wealth, and over the wide fields of magnificent fertility.

ENGLISH CRUISER WILL SERVE AS 'REFUGE SHIP' IN NICARAGUA WATERS

Washington, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The British ambassador formally notified the State Department today that the British warship Colombo would arrive at Corinto, Nicaragua, February 26, for the "moral effect" its presence might have, but that under no circumstances would British naval forces be landed.

London, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The British government has decided to send a cruiser to Nicaragua as a "place of refuge" for British subjects endangered by the civil warfare going on there, it was officially stated today.

Dispatch of the cruiser, it is understood, does not indicate a departure in the fundamental British policy in Central America nor a change in attitude toward the Monroe Doctrine.

SLASHES HIS THROAT TO PROVE HE'S NO 'COWARD'

To prove he was not a coward, during a boisterous party at his apartment early today, Thomas F. Clark, 31, single, of No. 140 St. Botolph street, slashed his wrist and throat with a razor and is reported to be dying at the City Hospital from loss of blood.

According to the police, Clark entertained a party of friends, the celebration lasting until early today. Liquor is said to have enlivened the proceedings considerably.

Eventually talk turned to the personal characteristics of those present, it is understood, and one of the guests told Clark he was a coward.

"I'll show you whether I am or not," Clark is quoted as having said, whereupon he produced a razor and slashed his wrist, severing the radial artery. He then drew the razor across his throat.

Horrified guests notified Station 16 and an ambulance rushed Clark to the hospital. Dr. Robert Coleman, night superintendant, administered emergency treatment but it was said at the hospital, the man had lost such a quantity of blood that his recovery was doubtful.

Baltimore, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The bay steamer City of Annapolis was rammed and sunk by the steamer City of Richmond a mile off Smith's Point in this bay today.

Passengers from the City of Annapolis were transferred to the City of Richmond and the steamer St. Anthony. All were reported saved and the City of Richmond and St. Anthony were reported en route to Norfolk. Reports of the accident were meagre.

The City of Annapolis and the City of Richmond are sister ships of the Chesapeake Steamship Company plying between Baltimore and West Point. The City of Richmond

MALDEN GIRL HAPPY HOME LETTER VICTOR

Today's best letter on "What Makes Home Happy? What Makes Home Unhappy?" comes to the Boston Evening American from Malden, a Greater Boston city famous for its happy homes.

The writer is Miss Peggy Sprague, who may have acquired some of her knowledge on the subject in the neighboring city of Medford, where she spends her working hours in the office of the Fellsway Theatre.

Miss Sprague's letter, printed herewith, is awarded Thursday's ten dollar honorarium, evidence that it is not necessary to be a matron in order to achieve success in this very helpful discussion.

If you have not yet written your "Happy Home" letter, perhaps you will find a suggestion in these two groups of words:

Fidelity	Unconcern
Patience	Worry
Tolerance	Suspicion
Sympathy	Envy
Humor	Neglect

Any one of these words should suggest a text for you, may give you exactly the inspiration you need

$5,000 PANNING SENT HIM TO HOSPITAL

MAY TAKE WOMAN'S HOUSE TO PAY FOR IT
Leo Sontag, 4, of Roxbury, was playing in the yard of Mrs. Ida Galer when a pan, like the one in the picture, came out of a window and hit him on the head. He was awarded $5000 damages and may get possession of Mrs. Galen's only real estate to square account. Mrs. Galer says the pan slipped out of her hand. The boy was treated for a fractured skull, and although he was a trespasser the court awarded him damages.

MARSINO CLAIMS WIFE HAS HIS $200,000 LOOT

Chicago, Feb. 24.—More than $200,000 in bonds and securities, loot from the wrecked Warren National bank in Massachusetts, were hidden in his wife's trunk, Joseph Marsino, wanted in Massachusetts to serve a seven-year jail sentence, said here today.

Marsino is in jail awaiting hearing on habeas corpus petition March 4. Three Massachusetts officers headed by Dist. Atty. Charles B. Rugg, of Worcester, are here seeking his removal. He charges his divorced wife is in possession of the missing bank securities. He could not tell authorities where she is.

The ex-barber-banker expects to gain his liberty when the hearing on his removal to Massachusetts is held. He says he has planned to borrow $100,000 from friends and will go to Mexico to invest it in the oil industry. His attorneys charge there is a secret understanding between Massachusetts and Federal authorities to kidnap Marsino in order to bring him back to Massachusetts.

'PEACHES' TELLS HUB MAN, MADLY IN LOVE, 'WHY, I'M MARRIED!'

New York, Feb. 24.—"She is everything in the world to me," said Donald Brett, 25-year-old Brookline (Mass.) youth, referring to "Peaches" Heenan Browning on his arrival here today on the Bermuda steamer Fort George.

Calling "Peaches" his inspiration, and dejected at the ending of their companionship, which began in Bermuda and blossomed aboard ship en route home, Brett expressed surprise that rumor of an infatuation had preceded his arrival.

He admitted frankly that he feared the wrath of his father and brother, with whom he is in business in Boston, because of his regard for the child-wife of Edward W. Browning.

But he was dogged in his assertions of esteem for "Peaches," re-

BOY STAR WITNESS IN MAIL ROBBERY TRIAL

The story of a 12-year-old boy, William Hovanesian, also known to the government as "Greasy Pelican," is relied upon by Federal authorities to secure the conviction of three men charged with the $65,000 Salisbury train holdup last July.

The three men, John Boyd of Chelsea and Philadelphia and John Andrews and his son, Michael Andrews, of Nashua, N. H., went on trial in Federal Court today.

A jury was selected in record time, after which Assistant U. S. District Attorney Clifford Byrnes in outlining the case, announced that Hovanesian, who himself participated in the robbery, would be the star witness of the government.

BOY TO BE STAR MAIL ROBBERY WITNESS

Only three members of the jury that will try the accused men are from Boston, the other nine coming from widely scattered points in the State.

Occupying a bench near the front of the courtroom was a well-dressed, middle-aged officer from Philadelphia. His presence was an added tragedy for one of the defendants—John Boyd—for this officer has a warrant charging Boyd with the murder of his wife in Philadelphia, just a month over two years ago.

OFFICER WILL WAIT.

The Federal authorities have so far refused to give Boyd up to Philadelphia. But the Quaker City officer has announced that the murder warrant will be waiting for Boyd when the Federal government is through with him—whether it is a week or a decade from now.

The work of selecting the jury was gotten out of the way in short time, the challenges by the government and the defense being few and largely perfunctory.

Allan H. Clarke, a real estate operator of Fall River, was selected as foreman of the jury. The other members are: Elmer H. Brown, manufacturer, Rowley; Eugene A. L. Hafen, purchasing agent, Mansfield; Henry H. Walberton, painter, Weymouth; Wade A. Brooke, caretaker, Manchester; Fred N. Shaw, trustee, Peabody; Charles A. Knapton, overseer, New Bedford; Clarence F. Baker, carpenter, Chatham; John J. Collins, contractor, Boston; David L. Brewer, insurance agent, Plymouth; John R. Putnam, civil engineer, Boston; George D. McLean, floor walker, Boston.

ASKED TO TAKE RIDE.

In his opening address to the jury, Assistant District Attorney Byrnes indicated that Hovanesian, the "Greasy Pelican," as he is referred to in the Federal indictments, participated in the daring train robbery without knowledge of the deed that had been planned.

The prosecutor told of the Andrews, father and son, living in a modest home in Nashua, with Clark also living with the family as a boarder.

"Across the street from the Andrews, lived young William Hovanesian," he said, "and on his testimony we expect to prove our case.

"We will show that the Andrews went to young Hovanesian and asked him if he wanted to take a ride. He said he did and the party left Nashua in the car about 6:30 on the morning of the robbery. The car was driven to within 200 or 300 feet of the railroad station at Newburyport, where the $65,000 from Boston was being transferred to the Amesbury train.

Hovanesian was told to take the wheel. He and the elder Andrews drove to Bartlett's Crossing, between Salisbury and Amesbury, and the car was parked in the brush off the road.

The assistant district attorney then told how Boyd and the younger Andrews boarded the train carrying the money, at Newburyport and how they forced the baggagemaster, William Jordan, and another trainman through the baggage car at the point of revolvers. Jordan back through the car and leaped from the train while the robbers were searching for the pouch containing the money. When Bartlett's Crossing was reached, the men leaped from the train with the pouch, one shot having been fired by them.

The jury was told how Hovenesian then drove the party through Newburyport, Andover, Lawrence, Lowell and then to Nashua where they split up. For his part in the robbery, Hovanesian received the munificetn sum of $5.

The court room was crowded with witnesses and spectators, at the opening session. More than a score of witnesses were on hand ready to testify. Among these was a Mr. Olson, a passenger on the train which was held up.

Olson, the assistant district attorney said, would testify that he looked out the car window as the robbers were leaping from the train with the $65,000 loot, and that he recognized John Andrews standing in the roadway.

BRETT 'MADLY' IN LOVE WITH 'PEACHES'

peating over and over, as he ran his fingers through his wavy hair and talked gloomily with ship news reporters:

"She's everything to me."

Meanwhile "Peaches" and her mother, leaving the steamer and the sad Boston youth, hurried to their apartment, only stopping once on the way to deny any love on "Peaches'" part for Brett.

"He's a nice boy and a perfect gentleman," said young Mrs. Browning.

"How about that beautiful bunch of sweet peas?" she was asked. "Given to you by Brett?"

"Ah, no," said "Peaches," with a mock sigh. "They were given me by an 11-year-old page boy at the Hotel Hamilton in Bermuda."

"SHE BEATS GOLF."

Brett, hesitating to go ashore to meet his father and brother, in New York from Boston to greet him, said he could not bear to say farewell to "her."

"I suppose I'll never be able to say goodbye to her," he said to the reporters. Turning to one of the group, he asked: "Won't you just say goodbye to her for me?"

"She's a good girl," he added, after a moment's silence. "She is an inspiration to me."

His manner and words bore out the stories of a shipboard infatuation that preceded the Fort Hamilton to port. Brett leaves for home tonight or tomorrow. He lives with his brother in Stearns road, Brookline.

Golf, his favorite diversion from business affairs, was out of his mind, he said, since his meeting with "Peaches" in the land of blue skies, blue water and "bluebloods."

Later, in her apartment, "Peaches" talked more of Brett, of love, of gay times in Bermuda, but little of Browning and her suit for separate support in which a decision is forthcoming soon.

"If I so much as smile at a boy it means I'm as good as engaged in some folks' minds," she complained.

"I'M STILL MARRIED."

"Mr. Brett may have got a smile or two, but, then, I smile at ship's stewards and porters, and it's ridiculous to say I became engaged to everybody I was nice to.

"Don't forget that I am still married. That is my answer to all questions of love, marriage and affairs of the heart. Besides, if I were free I would not be thinking of such things any more, for I have learned by bitter experience that other things count far more than love and marriage.

"My sad experience with Mr. Browning cost me dearly. But it at least broadened my ideas in affairs of the heart. What I am thinking most of now is settling down in a home of my own and helping mother. Domesticity from now on.

NO MORE FOR 20 YEARS.

"You can say for me that I MAY never marry again, certainly not for 20 good, long years. Then I may be old enough not to make the mistake that I did before."

Crowds cheered "Peaches" and called her by name as she was on her way from the dock. Her Pekinese dog was overjoyed to welcome her home again and she fondled him eagerly. The dog was purchased with some of the alimony from Browning.

"Peaches" talked gaily of playing the races and losing $12 in Bermuda. No, she did not drink in that sunny clime, but she did, she admitted, smoke a few cigarettes. And purchases? Well, a few—two sweaters, a bottle of perfume, some doeskin for a coat.

"When I went away to Bermuda, I did so for a rest and to escape publicity," she murmured, as she snuggled the little dog in her arms. "I got a little rest but publicity still pursued me. I am a helpless victim of the press!

"I don't relish the limelight. I want everybody to know that. Of course, any normal person would like to be popular and ever since I testified at the trial I have gladly accepted the sympathy of hundreds of admirers.

"I trust that the public will still think well of me and that I may be popular in the estimation of my numerous friends.

"But let me deny again, please, any engagement with anybody, including Mr. Brett. There is no truth in any rumor linking my name with anybody. There is no foundation for such stories.

THOUGHTS OF "BUNNY"

"They say that rumors have wings. Well, I hope that after these denials they fly away never to return to my door."

As she showed her interviewers out she had an after-thought. Laughing merrily, she said:

"What a relief it was not to see any Rolls-Royces in Bermuda! They always remind me of Mr. Browning."

GIRL, 16, TO WED N. H. ENGINEER, FATHER OF 4

A railway romance, with a locomotive cab and steel rails as the background, will result in a May and December wedding Sunday, when 16-year-old Malvina Wisnewska of South Boston becomes the bride of William S. Calway of Roxbury, New Haven engineer, a widower and father of four children.

Her father, also a railroad man, introduced the bridegroom to Malvina several years ago and it was a case of love at first sight, she said.

Then followed days of ardent courtship, when a wave of the hand and a kiss thrown from the cab of his engine would register the courtship, she divulged. Then on other days, when time permitted, he would hop lightly from his engine in the freight yards near her home in Silver street and plight his troth hurriedly, making important use of the precious moments at his command.

Several days ago, Malvina and her future husband, accompanied by her father, John, went to the license bureau, where the necessary barrier in connection with her youthfulness was removed after her father sanctioned the match. Today plans were being rushed for the wedding Sunday.

"Although William is old enough to be my father, I love him dearly," said Malvina today. "I know he can earn enough to support me comfortably and he also has common sense—something young fellows of today lack. I don't care how old he is as long as I love him," she concluded and her mother, Maria standing beside her nodded approvingly.

MAN, 96, FINED IN RUM CASE

Baron Goldberg, 96 years old, of Conlon court, Somerville, today qualified as the oldest alleged violator of the prohibition laws on record.

Goldberg, who was a full-grown man when Davy Crockett was making history, was fined $100 by Judge Sturtevant in Somerville district court on charges of illegal sale, keeping and exposing liquor.

He insisted that the liquor found in a jug in his home by members of the Somerville liquor squad, was used to bathe his trembling limbs and was not for beverage purposes.

Sergeant Kenney and other members of the liquor squad testified, however, that one of their men purchased two half-pints of booze from Goldberg for $1.

The police also testified that numerous complaints had been received concerning Goldberg's anti-Volstead activities. Goldberg told the court he has been in this country for 41 years and is the father of two sons and two daughters, all past middle age in life.

"It's getting harder and harder for a young fellow to get along," he observed, as he appealed the sentence and furnished bond for appearance in Superior Court.

Goldberg is the oldest prisoner ever taken into Somerville court on any kind of charge.

FOLLOWS THE EXAMPLE OF HER SISTER

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 23 (Universal)—Twenty-year-old Mary Belle Du Pont, daughter of Lamotte Du Pont, president of E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Company, and heiress to millions, is following the example of her sister Natalie and forsaking the life of a social butterfly for that of a working girl.

She has entered the freshman class of nurses at Johns Hopkins Hospital and begun scrubbing floors and wrestling with pots and pans along with dozens of other girls.

"It is my idea of something to do," she explained. "I shall give it a fair trial, anyway."

The life of a student nurse, particularly a beginner, is no bed of roses. They arise early, work late, and there is little romance in it. They soothe few fevered brows, but they do an enormous amount of cleaning, and fetching and carrying about the hospital.

Miss Du Pont made her debut last Winter at one of the most brilliant parties ever given in this city, in St. Amour, her parents' home, one of the show places of Delaware.

She has traveled abroad extensively since her graduation from the Mary Baldwin School near Philadelphia. In sports circles she is known as a great lover of horses and a fine horsewoman, and has one of the best strings of jumpers in Delaware.

Miss Natalie Du Pont, her oldest sister, has been working for three years in the statistical department of Laird, Bissel & Weedam, a firm of bankers. She drives to her work every morning in her own car or with her father.

CONRY ASKS FOR BOARD TO FIND OUT NEEDS

Far-reaching plans for the development of the Port of Boston, in which the State during the last 60 years has invested $22,000,000, were outlined today to a legislative committee by former Congressman Joseph A. Conry of Boston.

The plans hinge on the creation of a division of metropolitan port authority.

These three resolves were offered:

1—That the waterways division of the Public Works Department be authorized and directed to make an investigation of the results that may be expected to follow to the business of the port by carrying through the proposed connection of the Great Lakes with the St. Lawrence River, for purposes of navigation by ocean-going ships.

CANADIAN TRAFFIC.

2—That the waterways division be authorized to make inquiry of the various Canadian railroads in regard to securing traffic from Canada for the Port of Boston, with a view to inviting any of said railroads to establish terminals in Boston, either by ownership in fee, or by traffic arrangements with any railroad now entering Boston.

3—That the waterways division be directed to make a study of and report forthwith as to the advantage of building a tunnel under Boston harbor connecting the State-owned lands in South Boston and East Boston.

B. & M. CANNOT QUIT 21 MILES IN BAY STATE

Washington, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—The Boston & Maine Railroad was authorized today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon three miles of branch lines in Massachusetts, and was required to continue operation upon 21 miles of line in that State which it had sought to salvage. The commission held that two and one-half miles between Concord and Reformatory and a half-mile of line between Essex and Conomo might be abandoned.

Operations must continue between Bedford and Concord on approximately four and one-half miles, between Bedford and North Billerica on eight miles, between Hamilton and Essex on five and one-half miles and on the Ashburnham Branch of two and three-quarter miles.

The B. & M. has announced its intention to abandon nearly 1,000 miles of branch line in New England, and the applications passed upon today were part of a series which the railroad has introduced.

In refusing today to let the railroad carry out the abandonments, the commission noted that the branch lines in themselves had occasioned losses, but that their value as feeders to the main line justified the expenditure. It was also declared the Boston & Maine, during recent years, had earned more profits than at the time its abandonment policy was begun.

'COURTLY THUG' HELD FOR JURY IN $25,000

The "polite bandit," Herman B. Weltz of Cambridge, who declared he stole to aid his sick wife, was held in $25,000 bail for the Grand Jury today when arraigned in Municipal Court.

As neat appearing as ever, Weltz stood in the prisoners' dock during the hearing, but got no chance to demonstrate his suavity, his attorney, R. S. McCabe, speaking for him in waiving trial.

Judge Joseph Zottoli quickly ended the session by continuing in force the high bail originally fixed and prescribed Grand Jury action.

Weltz, who is twenty years old, is charged with three holdups in Boston. Brookline officers were in court armed with a warrant charging robbery in that town and as a result Weltz may be arraigned in Brookline court at a later date.

The Boston holdups were those of Charles Jones on January 25, when Weltz is alleged to have obtained $60; Dr. Arthur P. James on January 27, netting Weltz $12, police say, and Henry P. Malval on the same date when the gentlemanly robber is charged with taking $40.

Weltz was arrested last Thursday by Patrolman John Crowley of Back Bay division.

GIRL CONFESSES SLAYING MAN

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Florence Stokes, a former sweetheart of James Glennon, who was slain Tuesday night, has surrendered and confessed the shooting.

The switchboard operator told police she killed Glennon, whose affections she believed were won by another woman, with a pistol he handed her when she explained she feared disgrace and would end her life if he did not marry her.

"I really wanted to kill myself, not him," the girl said between sobs, "but he sneered at me when I told him I would commit suicide, and he handed me his revolver and said to go ahead."

In her room was found a mail order house's instructions for use of a revolver and shells similar to those that killed Glennon.

A sister of Glennon said he had given an engagement ring to a 19-year-old girl last week.

SEES JOKE ON SELF

Washington could appreciate a joke on himself. Once he visited Dunlap's Theatre, in New York, to see a play called "Poor Soldier." In this he, as a Continental general, was described in good-humored comic verse. Washington laughed heartily.

JOB FOR OPPONENT

His generosity as well as his political shrewdness are shown by the fact that he appointed Thomas Jefferson, his political antagonist, as Secretary of State. Washington thought that Jefferson's experience in France would qualify him for the important position.

ARGUMENTS

But Cabinet meetings became a debating society; Hamilton and Jefferson argued with rancor. They were basically antagonistic; Jefferson was for the people, Hamilton was for property. Washington acted as mediator, but Jefferson resigned in 1793.

AIDED PRESIDENT

The great society leader of the day was Mrs. William Bingham, a slender, shimmering beauty. A devoted supporter of the President, she helped keep many a wavering delegate in line for the Federalist cause by her charming and lavish entertainments.

LONDON PRESS BACKS WARNING TO RUSSIA

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Correspondent

London, Feb. 24.—Great Britain's stiff protest to Russia against anti-British propaganda, threatening a disruption of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement and possibly diplomatic relations, was received here today by the press and public as commensurate with the British national dignity. There was, however, no general belief that the note would produce any real effects.

The Morning Post, which represents the extreme right of the Conservative party, declared that "neither Sir Austen Chamberlain nor anyone who studies events can any longer hope that a note will deflect the Soviet government one jot from the implacable course of its policy."

The Daily Herald, Labor organ, criticizes the government for attaching too much importance to the speeches and writings of Russian politicians and journalists. "The note does nothing to ease the situation," said the Herald.

The Rothmere Press, which is strongly anti-Bolshevist, denounces the government for not making the note stronger.

BUY PLYMOUTH THEATRE, LAND FOR $485,000

The Plymouth Theatre and three adjoining buildings, including a row of stores and 15,763 square feet of land in the heart of the theatre district, have been sold and re-sold, according to announcement today by Boston real estate firms.

The buildings and land are assessed for a total of $485,000, of which amount $427,300 represents the land. The stores involved are those from No. 129 to No. 145 Stuart street.

The first purchaser was Otis L. Fuller, buying from the Eliot Street Trust through George B. Winslow, who represented the trust in the negotiations.

The property was then re-sold by Fuller to the trustees under the will of Alexander Cochrane, in which transaction Cabot, Cabot & Forbes represented both buyer and seller.

The Plymouth Theatre, situated in Stuart street near Tremont street, is one of three theatres in Boston which have been used exclusively for legitimate drama.

Picture Hub Mission Work

What the Episcopal City Mission is doing in Greater Boston will be shown in moving pictures at the annual meeting Friday in St. Paul's Cathedral. Call Ten Husky Cops to Land 'Battling' Nelson in Cell

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Ten stalwart policemen won a two-round argument over Oscar "Battling" Nelson, former lightweight boxing champion, when he was arrested in his home on a Montana larceny warrant.

Round one found two coppers trying to enter the house. Nelson barred the door and refused to come out.

The gong for round two sounded as a detective bureau car came up with reinforcements. Then a lieutenant crawled through a window and [illegible] a decision.

"We'll go back to the station," he said. Nelson went.

Nelson is accused of the theft of the movie film of his fight with Ad Wolgast seventeen years ago.

BOSTONIANS SAIL ON WEST INDIES CRUISE

A [illegible] of Bostonians and New Englanders are booked to embark Saturday at New York on the [illegible] cruise to the West Indies on the United American liner Reliance. The trip requires a month, calling at more than a dozen ports, including Barbadoes, Trinidad, Kingston, Santiago, Fort de France and Havana.

Among the Bostonians sailing are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Quinn of Louisburg square, with their daughter, Miss Katherine Quinn; Dr. C. F. York, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Taylor, with their daughter, Miss Ruth Taylor; Elizabeth T. Kirlin, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Knapp, Mrs. Arthur H. Pearson and Mrs. Frederic Parker, Jr., of Brookline, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Peavey of Brookline.

CONRY TELLS OF NEEDS OF PORT IMPROVEMENT

ation. Conry asked that $5,000 be appropriated.

At the outset, the former Congressman declared that the business of the port is of sufficient magnitude to warrant an independent body giving it undivided study, care and attention.

EAST BOSTON TUNNEL.

"Every dollar spent by the State on the port has brought a new dollar to the State," he asserted. "A bill is somewhere in process to provide for a bridge or tunnel to East Boston. Any authority on port development will testify that the only proper system of connection with East Boston should be by tunnel, connecting the terminals through State land."

He reminded the committee that the Grand Trunk of Canada was very anxious to find an outlet in Boston 15 years ago.

When Vincent Massey, the recently appointed Canadian Minister was in Boston while on his way to Washington, Conry pointed out, we would have entertained him, told him the story of the port and indicated our desire to encourage more intimate trade relations with Canada, if we had had a Boston port authority, acquainted with the affairs of the world.

GET NEW YORK OVERFLOW.

New York, he continued, has more business than it can comfortably take care of, and while we cannot hope to rival that great metropolis we can offer better facilities and get a big share of the overflow of that port.

In the awakening of China, in which Old England he predicted is going to lose its commercial supremacy, the trade will be divided between Germany and the United States.

"Boston should get its share for New England," he declared. "These matters require the attention of something more than a mere deputy. They are worthy of the attention of men of great capacity."

ABANDON SPANK STICK AND ADOPT YARDSTICK

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Guy D. Hilles, Seneca Falls, N. Y., speaking at the convention of the Wholesale Stationers Association, said rulers last longer in this generation than they did in the last.

The elders these days do not rule with the ruler, he said; they spare the rod and spill the child.

"When I was a boy our school teacher used to break at least a ruler a week, and my son tells me the rulers last the whole term and are discarded because they are ink-spotted."

Mr. Hills declared "more yard sticks are sold today than ever before." He explained this condition by stating "in measuring her skirts from the floor up to see if they are even, present-day women use a yard stick, where their mothers found a 12-inch ruler sufficient.

"Now the skirts are more than a foot off the dust, whereas they were once, in our memory, two or three inches. As a result more yard sticks than ever are sold."

"POP" BEDELL DIES AT HOME IN BROCKTON

Brockton, Feb. 24 (A. P.)—Walter "Pop" Bedell, well known actor, died at his home here today after a long illness. He has appeared in nearly every city and town in New England and New York during the last 45 years. For several years he had made Brockton his home, being a member of resident stock companies.

TRUCE CALLED IN STRIKE AT SHANGHAI

London, Feb. 24 (I.N.S.)—The Cantonese captured Fengerun, forty miles from Shanghai, today, according to a Central News dispatch. The loss of this town is considered as an almost irreparable blow to the left flank of General Sun Chuan-Fang's army.

Shanghai, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—The American transport Chaumont arrived here today with 1,200 marines from San Diego, Cal. The marines remained aboard the vessel.

American forces here now total about 2,300 men.

In addition, five American men-of-war swing at anchor in Whangpoo River, which has been transformed into "battleship row," before the richest city of the Far East, and four more United States destroyers were on their way here, three from Manila and one from Pagoda anchorage in Southern China.

A truce was declared in the conflict between Nationalist labor in Shanghai and the tottering regime of Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang tonight.

Simultaneous proclamations sent scores of thousands of workers back to their jobs and called off the executioners of General Li Pao-Chang, Shanghai defence commissioner.

The proclamation issued by General Li, in which he revoked orders for the execution of strike agitators now being held, admits the shootings and beheadings carried out by his decree during the last five days have totaled 100, half of which were in public. Foreign officials believe at least 100 more were executed in the military enclosures of defense authorities.

The General Labor Union issued a proclamation, in which its officials announced they had "taken steps with a view to ending the strike for the time being."

The laborites pointed out, however, that the present action was only a truce and that they expected to strike again when the time is ripe. This was taken to mean that they would act when the military situation becomes more definitely favorable toward the Nationalists.

Russian Troops Massing on Chinese Frontier

London, Feb. 24 (I.N.S.)—Siberian troops are reported massing on the Manchurian frontier, and it is believed that a Russian invasion, to synchronize with a revolt against Chang Tso Lin, is planned, declares a Tokio dispatch to the Evening News today.

SALM FAILS TO RECONCILE COUNTESS

Paris, Feb. 24 (Universal).—"No Lady, there is no need of your coming to see me. First of all, I don't like heroics. Secondly, none of your arguments could have the slightest effect against my paramount aim, namely, that I now know I have fallen out of love and could never consider a reunion with you.

"The arrangement made in New York stands now as solidly as ever."

This message, not in the form of a letter or a written telegram but as an ultraconfidential verbal communication was carried to Count Salm from his wife, the former Millicent Rogers, by a mutual friend who, at the Count's request, went to London to see Millicent right after the Count returned to Paris with his mother last week.

Now the above message makes it clear to him that all hopes of letting bygones be bygones is over and he will, say his friends, sue Millicent in the French Courts on charges of desertion.

I understand on unusually reliable information that Millicent positively objects to having a decree of divorce against her. This, she says, must not be, chiefly on account of her son's future.

Under the circumstances the procedure will be as follows, according to present tentative plans:

Count Salm will institute divorce proceedings against his wife—absent from France—on the grounds of desertion.

Within two months of her husband's complaint, Millicent will enter a counter suit charging infidelity. In such a case she does not even have to come to France, but can be represented by an attorney.

According to precedents, the French justice confronted by both claims and after verification of both of them will necessarily grant the decree in favor of the wife.

COUNTRY-WIDE SEARCH FOR JUDGE'S DAUGHTER

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Alarm was broadcast today by the missing persons bureau of the police department for Kasia Mahoney, fifteen-year-old daughter of Supreme Court Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney, who was last seen on her way to school Monday. The girl's description has been sent to police throughout the country.

Records of the bureau listed the girl as being 5 feet 4 inches high, 119 pounds, blue eyes, blond bobbed hair and light complexion. When last seen she was wearing brown coat, hat, dress and shoes.

BRITAIN DENIES HOSTILE MOVE IN NICARAGUA

The cruiser Colombo, attached to the West Indies station at Bermuda and commanded by Captain H. M. Lecky, is the ship ordered to the scene.

Definite decision to send a cruiser came after the British charge d'affaires in Managua notified his government that the American Minister could not guarantee to protect British lives and property in case of renewed street fighting.

Officials emphasize the British government's gratitude for the assistance given by the American government in the past in Nicaragua, and state that Great Britain will continue to rely on this assistance.

It is presumed the cruiser will go to Bluefields, on the Atlantic coast, where it will be available to British refugees in case of trouble.

London, Feb. 24 (I.N.S.)—The Foreign Office today issued the following statement:

"The British charge at Managua has informed the British government that the United States can no longer give guarantees for the safety of British lives in the event of further street fighting.

"The British government has decided to send a cruiser to Nicaragua as a place of refuge for British subjects."

U. S. Will Oppose Landing of British in Nicaragua

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Feb. 24—Great Britain's dispatch of a warship to the west coast of Nicaragua to protect British interests was viewed with equanimity today by the State Department.

No protest against the British man-o'-war's presence in Nicaraguan waters will be made by this government, so long as the vessel acts merely as "a place of refuge" for the 200 odd British subjects in the country.

Any attempt, however, to land British tars on Nicaraguan soil, or to take any punitive action against the Nicaraguans for injuries suffered by British interests will be met with a most emphatic American protest under the well-understood Doctrine of Monroe.

Great Britain fully understands this attitude on the part of the American government and is prepared to respect it, according to information here.

SAME POLICY AS IN 1913.

The American policy in this respect is the same as that followed at Vera Cruz in 1913, when the warships of half a dozen foreign powers gathered in Mexican waters, but permitted the American marines to do the fighting.

Instead of viewing the presence of the British warship in Nicaraguan waters with alarm, State Department officials apparently welcomed it today.

It relieves this government of the necessity of providing a "place of refuge" for British subjects, should conditions become serious, and at the same time it strengthens the State Department's contention that the Nicaraguan situation is really serious.

BACKS UP KELLOGG.

Secretary of State Kellogg has had a difficult task in convincing a considerable part of the Senate that conditions in Nicaragua have justified the dispatch of nearly 5,000 marines and bluejackets to the Central American trouble zone; consequently, the British action was regarded by State Department officials as furnishing additional support for Kellogg's policy.

U. S. Marines Widen Neutral Zones in Nicaragua Revolt

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Feb. 24 (I.N.S.)—The United States representatives here have effectively widened the neutral zones until they now have declared practically every important centre in Nicaragua to be neutral.

The latest order issued prohibits fighting within a radius of 1,000 yards of Chinandega, Leon, Managua, Granada Pass, Quezalguagua, Chichigalpa, Posoltega and other points where American marines are stationed.

Blue-jackets now on shore duty here are to be replaced by 2,000 marines now en route to Nicaragua.

CAN'T FORCE STUDENTS INTO RELIGIOUS BELIEFS

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—College men and women will not be forced into set religious beliefs, opinions voiced in 2,000 questionnaires at Northwestern University indicated today. Many of the answers were to the effect that the attitude of students toward religious questions was one of indifference.

"Why worry?" wrote a senior girl. "College is just a hunk of life in which we learn to find ourselves."

WITHDRAWS SUIT

"To sue or not to sue," was the problem Mrs. Margaret Fillmore, sister of Mary Miles Minter, faced after entering a suit against Hugh H. Fillmore. The next day she withdrew the suit saying. "Mr. Fillmore pleaded with me and said it would hurt his business. I couldn't do that."

ONLY HUB-MADE MAYORS FOR CHICAGO

No matter what man Chicago elects, she has got to get him from Boston.

First it was Mayor William Hale Thompson—"Big Bill" they called him, from the lake front south to Florida, where sometimes he becomes excited over horseshoe pitching.

Then, and now, it is Mayor William E. Dever, former Superior Court judge in Illinois' big town; a man who came out of Woburn's tanneries and went to Chicago looking for "just a job," took a night law course—and got the biggest, toughest job in the town.

Both are originally from Boston—and the next mayor of Chicago will also be from Boston, because, as things stand now, these will be the contestants, although Dever defeated Thompson heavily at the last election.

Ex-Mayor Thompson was born in Boston in May, 1869. His parents went to Chicago early and "Big Bill," as he was even when a youth, roamed the prairies, punched cows and saved enough to buy himself a broad-brimmed hat of the style he still wears.

In the Winter he attended school in Chicago and became so citified that he started to buy and sell real estate. In 1901 he married Mary Walker Wyse of Chicago, became an alderman, then county commissioner and then mayor, yachtsman, hunter and globe trotter.

Mayor Dever is seven years older and lived in Greater Boston longer. He was just a factory hand when he went to Chicago, but after he married Katharine Conway of Olean, N. Y., he started up. Four sisters live in Brookline and a brother in Salem.

THREE BOYS SLIDE TO DEATH IN ICY POOL

Perth Amboy, N. J., Feb. 24 (I.N.S.)—Three boys, two of them brothers, were found dead today in an ice-covered pool in an abandoned clay pit in Keasby. They had been missing since last night, when they left their home to slide on the pond. A large hole in the ice led searching parties to the bodies.

The dead were Frederick and Howard Peterson and Ernest Grosz.

STEAMSHIP IS SUNK IN CRASH; 100 SAVED

left Baltimore at 6 P. M. yesterday with about fifty passengers aboard.

Aboard the City of Annapolis were [illegible] persons including passengers and crew.

The first report of the accident was received by the naval academy wireless station at Annapolis from the steamer St. Anthony.

The St. Anthony requested medical aid and a sub-chaser was started from Annapolis with doctors and nurses by Rear-Admiral Louis M. Nulton, academy superintendent, but the rescue ship was turned back by further word from the St. Anthony that all passengers had been taken off and that she was proceeding to Norfolk.

Two Dead, Two Hurt, in Blaze on Tanker

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—The charred hulk of the flame-swept British oil tanker Black Sea, rested today on mud flats of Gravesend Bay, off Brooklyn, the grim specter of a blazing threat against New York harbor shipping.

Two bodies were found in the fire-swept wreckage.

Two men were injured and the lives of more than 40 others endangered when a naphtha explosion set the tanker ablaze off Bayonne, N. J.

The Black Sea was beached after fleets of tugs had successfully towed the blazing vessel more than [illegible] miles from Bayonne, across New York harbor, removing it from the vicinity of scores of loaded [illegible] on shore and tankers in the waters of Kill von Kull.

James Langley, 28, assistant chief engineer, was seriously burned and almost blinded when he was trapped in the engine room of the vessel. David J. Davis, 27, second mate, received lacerations of the face and body when he jumped with a half-dozen other members of the crew from the burning craft to nearby tugs. Others leaped into the sea and swam ashore.

Swim for Lives in "Sea of Fire"

Camden, N. J., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—The captain and mate of the oil tanker Boone leaped into a virtual "sea of fire" caused by blazing oil on the surface of the Cooper River here today and swam fifty feet to safety, uninjured.

Chris Christiansen, the captain, and Ole Johnson are the survivors of the harrowing adventure. They were alone on their ship.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—The [illegible] of the International Fisheries Commission struck a reef and sank early today, near [illegible], Alaska.

A radio message to Dr. W. Thompson of Seattle, scientific d rector of the commission, said th all of the crew of 17 escaped befo the boat sank. They are being tak to Kodiak on the steamship Admir Watson.

On the bar near Bandon, Ore., t steam schooner Mary E. Moore w reported sinking after having ru aground.

Stop little Colds before they become big

Pneumonia

A GREAT many cases of this dread disease develop from neglected colds. That's why medical science says: "To avoid a big cold, stop a little one."

For checking all colds promptly, the following approved treatment has been found effective in millions of cases: (1) A day's rest. (2) A laxative. (3) A light diet. (4) Vicks rubbed on throat and chest.

Vicks medicated vapors, released by the body heat, are inhaled direct to the air passages; at the same time Vicks acts like a poultice, drawing out the soreness and pain. Use this treatment at the first sign of every little cold and big colds will be almost unknown to you

'SUICIDE' CLUB LED TO DEATH OF STUDENT

[illegible], N. J., Feb. 24 (Universal)—One of the most surprising deaths among the 12 student suicides that have swept the United States since January 1, that of Clark Kessler, [illegible] who killed himself last Thursday, was revealed as the alleged result of a [illegible] called "suicide club."

Kessler was one of "The Phantom Three," according to police. A trio of high school boys, as the result of [illegible] reading of philosophy and spiritualism, it is declared, had decided to study the world beyond with one of their number as the explorer.

They drew lots to see who should wait until the night of Thursday last when he went to the church, swallowed poison and turned on all the gas jets.

Back of that story, according to the police, is another story of eerie rites—performed by the three before the altar of God. There, in the solemn watches of the night, the drawing of the lot that ordered Kessler's death is said to have taken place.

PROPOSES AMENDMENT TO REPLACE EIGHTEENTH

Washington, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—A new constitutional amendment, submitted to the House today by Representative Phillips, Republican, Pennsylvania, would abolish the 18th Amendment and grant Congress power to regulate, control or prohibit the liquor traffic throughout the United States.

The proposal would not interfere with the power of States to deal as drastically with liquor problems as local sentiment may dictate.

WOMAN WAS SLAIN BY SILENT KILLER

Detroit, Feb. 24 (I.N.S.)—Mrs. Grace Loomis, whose husband, Dr. Frank Loomis, is held in connection with her death, was slain by a silent killer, who uttered not a sound as he brutally clubbed her to death. This was the assertion today of Mrs. Ethel Bell, who stood on the street outside the Loomis home only 15 feet away while Mrs. Loomis was murdered. Thomas Blackman, a friend, was with Mrs. Bell at the time.

COOLIDGE HITS AT BORAH'S INQUIRY

Washington, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—After conferring with President Coolidge, Secretary Kellogg has written Chairman Borah indicating that the administration sees no necessity for the projected visit to Mexico and Nicaragua by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The secretary, who is ill at his home here, said the committee could get full information regarding the situation in those two countries from two State Department officials who were directed to appear before the committee at its session [illegible].

They are Stokley Morgan, chief of the department's Latin-American division, former charge in Nicaragua, and Williamson S. Howell, Jr., of the Mexican division.

Secretary Kellogg's communication apparently did not cause Chairman Borah to change his mind as to the desirability of his committee going to Central America during the recess of Congress, and he was prepared to press for action on his resolution.

COOLIDGE IS ACCUSED OF BUDGET "DECEPTION"

Washington, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—President Coolidge was accused today by Representative Byrns of Tennessee of practicing a "deceptive policy" in the submission of budget estimates.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the House, the Tennessean declared that in many instances the appropriations requested in the original estimates are insufficient to carry on the activities of the government and at the time of submission it "is clearly understood that the necessary amounts will be carried in deficiency bills to be passed at a later session."

SEVEN BANKS ARE CLOSED BY KANSAS STATE ORDER

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Seven banks of the Montee-Miller group in Southeastern Kansas were closed today by the State Banking Department.

The banks controlled by John G. Miller, Pittsburg, Kan., coal operator, and J. W. Montee of Ft. Scott, former State Senator, were located at Pittsburg, Ft. Scott, Englevale, Cherokee, Arma, Opolis and Mulberry.

CLOSING PLEAS IN DAUGHERTY CASE HEARD

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Summations in the Daugherty-Miller case began today.

Aaron Sapiro began with the evidence as it related to Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian.

It was agreed between Sapiro and Harold F. Corbin, of counsel for Harry M. Daugherty that they would divide the day and their summations today.

Emory R. Buckner, United States Attorney, said he expected to conclude his summation tomorrow. Judge Knox said he would let the jurors decide whether he should charge them Saturday.

Daugherty and Miller are charged with conspiring to defraud the United States of their best services in connection with the alleged invalid transfer of $7,000,000 of proceeds of the sale of impounded enemy-owned shares of the American Metal Company.

Sapiro described the government's case against Miller as one totally devoid of proof of a conspiracy.

"The government," he said, "has showed you some cute trailing of bonds and it has built up a fine little paper house, but it has not shown you one shred of evidence of the conspiracy alleged in this indictment.

"This case is not one of accepting money or bonds. It is a conspiracy case and there has not been, from one of the numerous government witnesses, a single word of direct testimony about a conspiracy."

ONE SEIZED IN MUTINY ON MAINE-BOUND SHIP

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—The story of a mutinous crew being held at bay off Lynnhaven, Va., with pistols in the hands of Captain C. H. Chase and the first mate of the schooner Alice L. Pendleton was told police here today by Coast Guard officers who answered the ship's distress signals.

William King, negro, of Baltimore alleged leader of the mutiny, was arrested by R. B. Kinkead, boatswain on the Coast Guard cutter, and turned over to Norfolk police, who placed a charge of inciting a mutiny against him.

SWEDISH LAW SOLVES LIQUOR PROBLEM

By DR. IVAN BRATT

(Author of the Swedish government liquor law adopted after the defeat of prohibition.)

Stockholm, Feb. 24.—Parliaments may make laws, including prohibition laws, but these laws will be ineffective unless they conform to existing conditions and are supported by a great body of public opinion. Laws do not make reforms. Reforms make laws.

Temperance cannot be enforced by the police, but only by wise legislation, followed by experience and habit.

These are the principles on which the so-called Bratt system is based.

The chief idea underlying the system is education. We realize that absolute prohibition cannot be enforced in any community where habits and convictions are opposed, but temperance laws can be enforced, the community educated to believe in them, and the old saloon evil thus forever exterminated.

EDUCATION TAKES TIME

But education takes time. And only an entirely new generation which the system has slowly weaned away from alcohol will show the real effects of the system.

At the moment, alcohol consumption is going up again, but we are certain that this is only temporary. The reduction in drinking and drunkenness brought about by our Swedish system has already completely justified its introduction.

In practice we have found that what might seem most difficult in the application of the system, namely the allotment of the proper amount of alcohol to every individual, is really the easiest. It is difficult for men to get together on general principles. It is easy to unite opinion on what is right in a concrete individual case.

ABOLISHES SALOONS

Under the Bratt Swedish system all liquors above 3.2 per cent. alcoholic content are manufactured, transported, imported and sold exclusively by a State monopoly.

Distribution is by public service companies controlled as to rates as railroads are in the United States, and limited as to profits on invested capital as the Federal Reserve banks profits are in the United States. This abolishes the saloon, and prevents increasing liquor sales by hotels and restaurants to increase profits.

The aim of the system is temperance, not prohibition.

MOST POPULAR BOOK

This "motbook" is the most popular book in Sweden. One Swede in every six possesses one. The "motbook" is issued by the Retail Public Service Company of the district in which the person resides, stating his name, age, occupation, amount of rent or taxes paid, and the amount of high alcoholic beverage he may purchase in a year.

The annual turnover of this government-controlled liquor traffic in Sweden is about $42,000,000, of which nine-sixteenths goes to the government.

Drunkenness has decreased from 10.48 convictions per 1,000 of population to 5.28. Confiscation of illegal liquors have decreased in five years from 121,516 to 35,760. This decline is because bootlegging is no longer profitable.

DEFEAT OF MEXICAN FEDERALS UNCONFIRMED

Mexico City, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Official announcements and press dispatches do not support the claims of Adolfo de la Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico and now head of revolutionary movements, that 6000 Mexican Federal troops had suffered defeat and heavy casualties at the hands of rebellious Yaqui Indians in the state of Sonora.

Federal forces have been reported by the War Department to be ejecting Yaqui Indians from their mountain strongholds and to be constantly pursuing them.

SLAYER SHOOTS HIMSELF AFTER CALLING REPORTER

Asbury Park, N. J., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Ernest Ricker, who yesterday killed his wife and wounded a sheriff in South Langhorne, Pa., today fired three shots into [illegible] after he had called a reporter of a local newspaper to tell him [illegible] about the South Langhorne shooting.

The shooting occurred in the Regency Cabaret Hotel, where the man registered last night.

Drive Off COLDS by using Dr. Hilton's No. 3

Easy to take—prompt to act. Try them!

Colds Are Contagious!

So at the first sign stop them with Hot Lemonade.

IF you felt chilled or sneezed today—that's the danger sign. Heed it.

Just squeeze the juice of one California Lemon in a cup or glass of hot water—add sugar or honey if you wish.

Sip it slowly after a good warm bath. Then bundle up in bed—with plenty of covers. In the morning you'll feel fit again.

Millions use this simple, easy way, because in nine times out of ten it cures colds overnight, if taken when the first signs appear.

So you prevent possible pneumonia, or the "flu" in this surest, safest, cheapest way.

Always ask for California Lemons. They are the juicy, tart, and practically seedless kind—best for Hot Lemonade.

MANILA BUSINESS HOUSES GO UP IN $1,000,000 BLAZE

Manila, Feb. 24 (A. P.)—Investigation was begun here to determine the cause of a disastrous fire which swept the heart of the Manila business district today, causing a loss estimated between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

Nine business houses in the Calle Escolta were destroyed. Four others were badly damaged. This is the second bad fire to hit Manila in six weeks. On January 10 a blaze wiped out more than 200 homes in the Tondo district.

Reproduces them all—

FROM the deep-throated boom of the basshorn to the silvery, elusive notes of the flute—the new Rola reproduces each faithfully—with unequalled purity.

WALSH IN PLEA FOR A LODGE MEMORIAL

Democrats and Republicans today joined in urging erection of a memorial to the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in the State House.

Before the legislative committee on State administration, Representative Slater Washburn of Worcester eulogized Mr. Lodge as the "greatest outstanding statesman of the last fifty years." In pleading for immediate action, he urged the art commission be empowered to select a location, approve a design and make recommendations to the next General Court.

He warned the committee, however, that sponsors of the movement will not be satisfied with "one of the small niches in some out-of-the-way corner."

He submitted a three-page letter from Senator David I. Walsh and a telegram from Congressman James A. Gallivan heartily approving the memorial idea.

The Walsh letter read in part:

"I share the belief of those who feel that we should be slow to rear monuments until time has given us the perspective to judge men's greatness, but in this instance we can give lasting recognition, not to the worth of single achievements, but to a career which was worthy of our best Massachusetts traditions in the broadness of its reaches and the unselfishness of its service."

'BABY STAR,' WITH FAME IN GRASP, SUFFERS COLLAPSE

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Iris Stuart, former New York artist's model, who, through six months' work in pictures, became one of this season's "baby stars," today faced the possibility of having to give up her film career on the threshold [illegible]. Her physicians ordered her to a sanitarium for an indefinite retirement because of failing health.

Ask Lower Light Rate

Declaring the rate of the Charlemont Electric Light & Power Company is "unreasonably high," twenty-one customers of the company today petitioned the public utilities commission to compel the company to drop its price.

Radio Queries?

Whatever your perplexity on radio—the price of a set, what station was broadcasting last night, why the tubes won't light—technical or otherwise, merely write the Radio Editor and enclose stamps for reply.

COOLIDGE SOON TO NAME NEW RADIO CONTROL BOARD

Washington, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—The 700 odd American radio broadcasters who daily and nightly fill the ether with an admixture of jazz, health and Bible talks, speeches, travelogues, operas and bedtime stories are at last under the guiding hand of the Federal government.

President Coolidge fixed his signature to the bill which establishes government control over all channels of interstate and foreign transmission and there remains only the selection of the five-man commission provided in the measure and Senate approval of its make-up before actual supervision of the air begins.

RADIO DIALOG

by C. WILLIAM RADOS

A FEW days ago we casually mentioned that no one had ever sent in a report of receiving a hundred stations in one night. This is one of the many efforts to please that we have received:

"Dear Radio Editor:

"On the morning of the 13th to 16th [illegible] I had 88 stations and [illegible] local. This was received [illegible] about 6 p. m. on Saturday to [illegible] or 2:30 a. m. Sunday morning [illegible] some breaks in listening at [illegible] intervals. The week [illegible] I had 78 stations and 10 [illegible] I am awaiting verifications [illegible] KGO, KFI and CZE. Very [illegible] E. L.

"E. Providence, R. I."

"[illegible] is over two years old [illegible] stations to its credit."

So [illegible] we must be careful because [illegible] are only about 700 stations [illegible] the whole country. Mr. E. L. of East Providence is certainly setting a pace. Let's hear from some more of the audience, especially from the people who live away from the big cities, as the reception [illegible] to be much better in the sparsely settled districts.

Five years ago when popular broadcasting was just starting there were some 15,000 radio amateurs in the country. Many of these [illegible] swelled the broadcast listeners who were then in the minority.

But time has passed and the amateurs now number only a few thousand. Last Tuesday, when the President talked to millions of Americans and Canadians and Europeans alike, we had a partial realization of true democracy—instant understanding by the people of what its leaders are doing.

Just before 8:30 P. M. we started on our trip around the dials. Around the dials or from high to low (not by Horatio Alger) was very interesting last night. Starting out of town with WJZ we heard someone telling us how Scotchmen were the first to conduct a form of investment service in foreign countries.

The next loud station we stopped at was WRNY. Here the announcer forecasted "intermezzo by Vista La—somebody" but was heterodyned. Obviously the somebody was not Scotch. However, with true tenacity the stars were again to be heard. For out of WBZ was the interesting program of the Radio Nature League. The gentleman heard here was asking for caterpillars. We can assure him that we will give all ours.

Clearly tuning in WMCA while the locals are transmitting is not being done very often this year. Just to be different, however, we did it last night at 8:00 P. M. After all our work we heard Miss Frances Kelly, soprano, finishing up.

There is one good thing about mediocre singing and that is the end.

While this may not be in chronological order, we will now tell you how many stations we heard. As the signal strength was very good last night the stations were literally fighting for dial space to be heard. When fading occurred, they seemed to take turns fading as when one station faded out, another came in, hence the list.

Gotham was well represented with WGBS, WMCA, WRNY, WEBJ, WHN, WJZ and WABC. WGY, Schenectady; WMAK, Buffalo; WENR, WCLO, WGN, Chicago; WIOD, Florida; KDKA, Pittsburgh; WAAM, Newark, WJAR, Providence; WHK, Cleveland, and WSAI, Cincinnati, were also on hand, or should we say ear?

The Well Dressed Men sang and played as nicely as they can dress. A medley of tunes from the show "Sunny" was well presented. "Here and There" and "Pale Moon" were two other numbers attractively served by the quartet. Then came the welcome news that again Goldy and Dusty would be heard. Next Wednesday evening they will be heard.

* * *

Although WJAR was weak and fading we enjoyed the singing of the National Chrysler Male Quartet.

WNAC presented the WNAC Players in an act which we could not have improved upon.

Now to rectify a mistake made yesterday. We announced that the signals were good Saturday, whereas we really meant Monday night. We blame the holiday for the error.

WPG and WBAL were not on last night, hence we picked up several stations more. A new one with us was WCLO, the Chicago Military Academy. The station came through well, but the piano solos were obviously, in fact they could not have been played by anyone other than a soldier.

The man down at WIOD pronounces it "Miama Beach." WHK has a strong signal, but a weak, bashful, retiring and modest announcer. Twice last night we listened hopefully but he retreated every time. The third time someone else announced and we then discovered the station identity.

Discovering a lot of squealing around Cleveland, we investigated and discovered that the noise was WEBJ of New York. In several other cases we were easily able to separate stations listed as being on the same wavelength. WMAK certainly comes through with plenty of pep and poor quality. As usual they spread all over several degrees and heterodyne other stations.

Pastor Calls Death Penalty 'Unchristian'

"Guns are used as freely in Massachusetts as in States that do not practice capital punishment," says the Rev. Verne Leslie Smith, pastor of Maple Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Lynn, in a letter to Representative C. F. Nelson Pratt of Saugus, leader of the Legislative drive against the death penalty.

"My interest in the crime question," adds Mr. Smith, "is not primarily in behalf of the abolishment of capital punishment. I think the processes of the law should be greatly speeded up and the assurance that crime should be quickly dealth with made more certain and that the greatest need in the reform of the crime laws, is in this direction.

"Of course, more and better laws and their enforcement, will not put an end to crime and the problem related to it, but our present procedure in the treatment of crime, is woefully inefficient. I am hoping you can help in this direction.

NOT A DETERRENT

"However, I am not a believer in capital punishment. Years ago scores of crimes were punishable by death. Gradually the number has been reduced and ultimately that method of attempting to deal with the crime problem will be eliminated.

"It does not square with Christian ethics, although of course it can be reconciled with the old Mosaic law.

"I do not observe that it has accomplished very much as a deterrent of crime. It appears to me that guns are used as freely in Massachusetts as in States that do not practice capital punishment, and in the old days when many crimes were punishable by death, they had many crimes just the same. The many executions became a matter of public interest, life was cheap, and, I think the tendency of the law was to cause folks to look slightingly upon life rather than the reverse. So you can put me down as being conscientiously opposed to capital punishment for the above named reasons."

WRONG IDEA

Representative Pratt has received the following letter from Supt. William A. White of Saint Elizabeth's Hospital, United States Department of the Interior:

"The discussion of a mooted subject like capital punishment is one which would require considerable time and space. Briefly, however, opinion is this: In the first place there is no evidence, so far as I know, that capital punishment has any effect upon reducing the number of homicides in this country.

"I believe it to be fundamentally a wrong conception of law to think that it can regulate the instincts and passions of man by prohibition. My fundamental objection to capital punishment is that it is prompted by the vengeance motive entirely.

"I think the history of capital punishment will substantiate this fully. So long, therefore, in my opinion, as capital punishment is on the statute books, the main objective of reducing crime by seeking the causes and developing a scientific program of prevention, will be sidetracked.

PSYCHOLOGICAL

"The question in a capital case is whether the individual is to be executed. The question should be: What are the causes that led to the crime and what can be done about them? In other words, the whole subject of crime is essentially a sociological and psychological rather than a legal question.

"Individuals who are anti-social in their conduct should be studied to find out what the causes are that led to such conduct, and dealt with accordingly. Capital punishment, as I have stated, sidetracks this whole inquiry by making the question involved a question of punishment.

"Mr. Dawes, the warden of Sing Sing prison, has advocated legislation that prohibits the exercise of executive clemency until twenty years have elapsed from the time of sentence. This means that a life sentence would actually be a life sentence in the majority of instances because a good many of the individuals die within that period and would prevent the pardoning of any one guilty of a capital crime or the reconsideration of his case, unless, of course, new evidence could be presented indicating that he was not guilty. This exception naturally has to be made.

"I think a solution along these lines would be infinitely better than retaining the capital punishment provisions on the statutes and would result in equal, if not greater, protection to society, and would have the effect of turning the interests of all those who had to do with criminals more directly in line with an investigation of the cause which led to the crime, and would naturally result in an effort to correct them."

TIRED STOMACHS COME TO LIFE

And Digest Heavy Meals Just Like a Boy

Diapepsin is probably the most powerful aid there is when the stomach seems worn out. It enables you to get away with foods that so often cause the utmost misery. Pie, cheese, cream, sausage, seasoned stews and foods that frighten a dyspeptic even to think of, are as modified milk to a cooing infant when followed by Diapepsin.

A host of people are denying themselves half of the pleasure of life hunting for patent, prepared foods that don't meet their needs. For after all it is the state of the stomach secretions that counts. Diapepsin adds to the secretions and actually works on the starches, meats, eggs, cream, etc., and that is what a tired, feeble stomach needs.

Get a 60 cent package of Pape's Diapepsin at any drug store.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Bath and Tennis Club Made Rendezvous by Smart Colony Now Wintering at Palm Beach

SOCIETY AT PALM BEACH HAS A NEW PLAYGROUND rendezvous—the Bath and Tennis Club. And the Palm Beach sun shines down on nothing more exotically resplendent. Enthusiastic members and their guests consider it a miniature Lido-Venice, that might have been transported intact from the Adriatic, and gather there for bathing, lunching and for tennis. Architecturally, the clubhouse, with its terraces overlooking the beach, might grace any one of several Mediterranean countries, or its countrpart be found in Southern California. Bathers may use the pool, or the surf itself, or gather before gaudy cabanas, of striped orange or blue materials; or they may linger beneath enormous sun umbrellas that dot the sands like so many huge blossoms.

TO FURTHER HEIGHTEN THE EXOTIC MOTIF, many cocoanut palms have been set out to throw their slender shadows over the resplendent scene that takes so much of its color from the daytime togs of the members, whether bathing or beach costumes. Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, 2d, is frequently at the club. Always smartly turned out, Mrs. Vanderbilt's frocks lend a bit of brightness to the scene, as she prefers silks and crepes with a dash of color. One morning costume distinctly effective was of printed silk, worn with a smart cape narrowly banded in grotto blue. Mrs. W. Seward Webb was in black, printed in white, her wide hat swathed in an effective arrangement of black and white veiling that floated in every vagrant breeze.

MRS. VANDERBILT, TRIM AND GIRLISH in taupe crepe and carrying a walking stick, was in the throng of guests Miss Elsie Janis entertained one afternoon at Club Le Touquet out on the South Lake Trail. The inimitable Elsie's guests more than filled the lovely clubhouse—and the setting sun shining down through the latticed gold ceiling found there the very smartest of audiences. Of course it included Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Boardman of Boston, whose place in the Palm Beach colony is high and assured. Mrs. Boardman's small hat of oyster white and her silk frock of white with its knotted neck handkerchief scarf were enormously becoming. Of an evening Mrs. Boardman has been wearing one of the large metal squares in lieu of evening wrap that the very well dressed find quite sufficient beneath the brilliant evening sky of Florida.

NOW THAT MISS ISABELLA MUMFORD IS IN BERMUDA playing at the championship matches is a sufficient fact to warrant keen interest in the outcome to her scores of friends hereabouts. Miss Mumford's tennis is the sort that puts her right up in the front ranks of Boston's bright galaxy of stars. Many well-known players from the United States and Canada are playing in Bermuda, so Miss Mumford will be able to meet performers of her own high calibre. Tennis is paramount during her short stay, of course, but even such an enthusiast as Miss Mumford yields to the allure of a garden party at Government House and took tea there and danced with the rest of the Bermudian elite.

BERMUDA'S MOST BRILLIANT SOCIAL FUNCTION is this annual garden party, given by the resident Governor of the isles and his wife, high positions now filled by Sir John Asser and Lady Asser. Rear Admiral Cameron McRae Winslow and his attractive daughters, Miss Emelie and Miss Theodore Winslow, were in the throng of notables. Also, Mrs. George Richmond Fearing, 3d. This trio of young Bostonians of the fair sex were charming pictures. Miss Emelie Winslow wore a shady hat of mauve crepe with transparent brim, and a Moyenage gown of mauve combined with tinted lace. With her cameo profile and dark red hair it was a most effective costume.

IN THAT HAPPY SHOPPING GROUND of the prospective bride, the New York shops, Miss Alice Lee Thomas has been adding to her trousseau many charming things in anticipation of her marriage in March to Malcolm Bradlee. A most important ceremonial is this, of interest to the principals' scores of friends in Boston's fashionable bailiwick and vastly concerning to the bride's many Baltimore friends. Miss Thomas and her sisters maintain a Boston establishment and have done so for some years, since the death of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thomas. Mrs. Robert H. Stevenson, Jr., that handsome Titian haired matron prominent in the Senior Supper Dance set, is their aunt.

THE NEXT-TO-THE-LAST SENIOR SUPPER DANCE on Friday evening brings a very interesting out-of-town set to dance with Boston's fashionables. Many of them come over often during the Winter for this smart series, and some are strangers from afar. One such is Miss Marian Skerton, of Paris, France, who will be Miss Sarah Winslow's guest at the dance. The Clarence Van S. Mitchells of New York will be in Stuart Montgomery's party at the Supper Dance. Edward Hutchins has Miss Elizabeth Weston in his party and Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Farley of Mount Kisco are guests of Mrs. George Harding.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR RICHMOND have Francis Harrower, of Wampeghan, Ct., in their party, and Sumner Sewall of Bath, Me. Mrs. Henry Shepley has cards for Mr. and Mrs. George Martin of New York, and Robert Whitney will be a guest of his brother, George F. Whitney. Every Senior Supper Dance is the occasion and reason for very smart dinners preceding and Friday's affair is no exception to the pleasant rule.

WALES STUDIES SEAMY SIDE OF LIFE

By F. A. WRAY

International News Correspondent

London, Feb. 24.—The Prince of Wales, who has probably seen the pleasanter side of life, has developed a desire to see the seamy side and to aid in efforts to alleviate distress among the poorer classes.

This explanation is made for the repeated visits which the Prince has lately made into the slum areas of London, where he has chatted with sailor outcasts in Limehouse, and men and women living in crowded and squalid quarters.

"What is the Prince's object?" was the question asked by the International News Service at St. James Palace.

"The Prince," explained the spokesman for the heir of the throne, "wants to keep in the closest touch, by personal experience, with all conditions of life, not only in the East End of London, but throughout the country.

"His visits are impromptu and he spends every free evening he has in London. He is seeking to know all about the housing problem—and especially bad housing—and also about the problems of the poor child and unemployment. He wants no publicity for these visits. All he wants is first hand information."

James A. Mallon, warden of Toynbee Hall—the great university settlement in the East End of London—who has been the Prince's guide on these visits, says the Prince deliberately seeks out the most undesirable sections. "Often his identity is unknown," said Mallon. "His popularity in the slums is phenomenal."

ITALIAN ENDS OCEAN FLIGHT

Rio Janeiro, Feb. 24 (I.N.S.).—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian ace, today completed his flight across the South Atlantic, arriving at Natal on the coast of Brazil from the Island of Fernando De Noronha.

Commander De Pinedo hopped off from Fernando today after having worked most of the night in making repairs to his machine which was damaged on Tuesday at Fernando, and arrived at Natal at 9:26. The distance between Natal and Fernando is approximately 150 miles.

De Pinedo's arrival in Natal today makes him the second flier to cross the South Atlantic, Ramon Franco, Spanish flier, having accomplished the flight last year.

FACES LIFE TERM FOR SLAYING OF EDITOR

Canton, O., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Ben Rudner, Massillon hardware merchant, has been found guilty of second degree murder in the assassination of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, which is punishable by life imprisonment in the State penitentiary.

The verdict was returned by a jury of seven women and five men, after a deliberation of seven hours. Mrs. Maggie Snyder, foreman, reported the finding.

Patrick McDermott, Rudner's alleged hireling, is serving life sentence on a conviction of first degree murder. Louis Mazer, third defendant in the prosecution of alleged conspirators against Mellett, will be brought to trial March 16.

HART'S GEO. WASHINGTON HISTORY PLAN ADOPTED

Washington, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Compilation of a history of the life of George Washington, to be approved by recognized authorities, has been decided upon as the first step for celebration of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth in 1932.

This was determined by the George Washington Bicentennial commission after President Coolidge's speech had set in motion arrangements for the celebration. The plan, made public today by William Tyler Page, clerk of the House and secretary of the commission, contemplates a history divided as follows:

Reference list of books on the life of Washington, complete history of his life, 1732-1799, geographical history to associate Washington's name with various localities and undertakings.

Mr. Page said the plan was submitted by Professor Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard.

Mr. Page anticipates that the commission will authorize a standard plaque to mark the various places visited by Washington.

FREDERICK F. PEABODY DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Santa Barbara, Cal., Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Frederick Forrest Peabody, former president of Cluett, Peabody & Company, is dead at his home here.

He was 68 years old, a native of Northfield, Vt., and began his business career as a clerk in the company which made him its president and later chairman of the board of directors.

'RICH? I DOUBT IT!' LAUNDRESS 'HEIR' SAYS

Virtually "too good to be true" is the possibility that Mrs. Helen Robinson, 60, Somerville laundress, may be the "lost heiress" for whom a German bank has been searching the world—and so Mrs. Robinson refuses to believe the dream of wealth.

She said so today at the home of a friend, Mrs. Gertrude E. Frohnert, in Porter street, Somerville, where the laundress, incapacitated for a year through an injury to one arm, has been living.

Also, she put forth the belief that someone may be engaged in a scheme to obtain what little money she has been able to save by skimping and scraping.

Mrs. Robinson explained that she came to America from Germany when a young girl, but knows of no person in the old country who might possibly have had money enough to leave her a fortune, even if there was any reason why she should be left a fortune.

She declared she entertains no hope of being able to identify herself as the woman sought by the Commerce and Private Bank of Berlin throughout the world.

Since coming to this country, Mrs. Robinson has contributed generously to the support of impoverished relatives in her native Germany.

The Rev. James Walker, a chaplain at the Concord Reformatory and a lifelong friend, has begun investigations of the heritage report for Mrs. Robinson.

PROTEST PRO-BRITISH SCHOOL BOOKS IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—Claiming that three history books used in Chicago public schools are "pro British and dangerous to American patriotism," a demand has been made that the texts be barred in a report sent to Mayor Dever and the board of education by the American Historical Society.

Criticism was directed against "A History of the United States," by William Fiske Gordy; "Our United States," by William Backus Guitteau, and "The Silent Reader," fourth series, by Lewis and Rowland.

BRITISH AUTHOR LAUDS HEARST PEACE PLAN

San Francisco, Feb. 24.—English-American contrasts, high lights in literature and the English-speaking entente were discussed freely today by an Englishman, who is not afraid to tell America what he thinks.

He is Hugh Walpole, distinguished author of "The Cathedral," "A Portrait of a Red-Haired Man" and "The Duchess of Wrexe," here on a lecture tour.

Walpole unqualifiedly endorsed the peace plans suggested by William Randolph Hearst, of an alliance of English-speaking nations, to prevent war.

"Though I opposed it at first, I have come to the conclusion that such an alliance is the finest solution of the peace problem," he declared. "When it was originally propounded, I could see only the defects. It did not seem practicable. I thought of the English-speaking nations as drawing together and saying to the others, 'We are strong enough to wallop you fellows if you start anything.'

"But I do not believe they would have that attitude. They look at the thing in an altruistic sense, with a real desire for world peace. France and Italy would not. They are too self-centered, but an English speaking alliance would be a long step in the right direction."

While American literature was endorsed by Walpole, American censorship came in for a bit of vituperous scorn.

"Censorship of the sort of plays adults should see is absurd," he declared. "Take 'The Captive' for instance. It deals with a situation that has been discussed by men and women for ages. It is a fine bit of writing."

FIND TIBET APE SMART ENOUGH TO BE A MAN

Moscow, Feb. 24.—Colonel Peter Kosloff, explorer, is back from Tibet with a story of training a hideous ape of extraordinary intelligence so well that he became a member of the expedition. Simians outnumber man in the country. The explorer found a sacred island, the sole inhabitants of which were three Buddhist monks with large hairy bodies and enormous shaggy heads. They ran in terror when the Russians approached.

LOEW AIDS IN NEEDY KIDDIES BENEFIT

Palm Beach, Feb. 24 (Universal)—Marcus Loew is one of the theatrical profession interested in the benefit to be staged at the Paramount Theatre by the Kiwanis Club, Friday night.

This affair, the proceeds of which will go to help the needy children of Palm Beach county, promises to be one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever staged here.

The talent, besides Mr. Loew, includes Arthur Hammerstein, who is directing the benefit; Sam Harris, Irving Berlin, E. F. Albee, Harry Frazee, Mrs. H. B. Harris, Lee Shubert, Daniel Frohman, Crosby Gaige, Joe Weber, Adolph Zukor, Lawrence Weber, John Golden and Arthur Hopkins.

Appearing in the cast will be Dorothy Dalton, Phil Baker, Rafaelo Diaz, Irving Caesar, Josephine Davis, Doris Dee, Morton Downey, Ralph J. Wonder, George Kay White, and U. L. Dithilini.

Others who will help to entertain include Harry Fender, Ziegfeld star; Curtis and Adelaise; Harry Rosenthal's bath and tennis orchestra, and the Yacht Club Boys.

CONDEMN LAND FOR BEDFORD HOSPITAL

The principal legal obstacle delaying the erection of the Veterans' Hospital at Bedford was removed in Federal District Court today by a jury verdict condemning the required lands for the structure.

A directed verdict for $55,614 in favor of the proprietors and mortgagors of the condemned premises was returned at the suggestion of Judge James M. Morton, before whom the proceedings were conducted.

The following were the claimants and the amounts granted them by the jury: Liberty Trust Company, $12,500 on a mortgage; Lexington Co-Operative Bank, $2,256; heirs to Cross property, $22,054 and H. Parker, $1,014.

The total acreage taken by the government for the hospital is 277 acres.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts.

Eating too much rich food may produce [illegible] form, says a well-known authority, because the [illegible] excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disorders.

FIRST NATIONAL FILM MAN HONORED AT HUB DINNER

A testimonial dinner in honor of Thomas B. Spry of First National Pictures Corporation, was given last night at the Copley Plaza by his friends and associates of the New England motion picture trade. The occasion celebrated the elevation of Mr. Spry from Boston branch manager to Eastern divisional manager. Five hundred guests, comprising motion picture salesmen and exhibitors in the New England field, made the event a memorable one in the history of local affairs in the industry.

Thomas B. Spry

Maurice N. Wolf, Boston manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, presided as chairman and introduced the toastmaster, Judge J. Albert Brackett.

Among the guests of honor and principal speakers were Samuel Spring of New York, secretary-treasurer of First National, Harry Campbell, Boston manager for William Fox, Fine, ex-Mayor Curley, and Thomas Meehan, representing the Poli Theatre circuit, who presented Spry with a valuable diamond ring in behalf of the assemblage.

Personally, I smoke for pleasure!

ON THAT basis alone, I select the tobacco that gives me pleasure in the greatest measure. (I wasn't deliberately trying to make a rhyme.) That tobacco is Prince Albert . . . good old Prince Albert, known as The National Joy Smoke—and for good reason!

Have you never known the thrill of opening a tidy red tin of this fine old favorite and inhaling that wonderful fragrance? Have you never sat at one end of a pipe with P. A. at the other end and tasted that marvelous smoke? Then it's high time to start!

Buy yourself some Prince Albert today. Fill your pipe to the brim and light up. Notice how refreshingly cool it is, no matter how fast you feed it. Notice, too, that it is mild without sacrificing that full, rich body which you demand in a smoking tobacco.

I tell you in all sincerity: If you have never smoked Prince Albert, you simply don't know how good that old jimmy-pipe can taste. No matter how satisfied you think you are, try a tin of Prince Albert. No friend ever gave you a straighter tip.

"Goes farther," Somerville woman says:

Look at this wash -whiter than ever
yet it wasn't scrubbed or boiled
just soaked so gently!

You, too, will be astonished — to see a [illegible] week's wash soak whiter and [illegible]

[illegible] Rinso [illegible] works [illegible] —no [illegible]

[illegible] you don't need to rub and rub [illegible] your hands are red and swollen. You don't even need to boil the wash unless you like to.

[illegible] without boiling — [illegible] too. Soaks the grimiest wash brighter, cleaner than ever.

Cuffs and edges come snowy with just a gentle touch—they don't need to be rubbed over and over until they're frayed. Clothes last longer, of course, when they're washed this gentle way!

Economical, and so safe

Rinso is all you need to do the week's [illegible] bar soaps, chips, powders. [illegible] granulated soap alone gives thick, creamy suds even in hardest water.

Tests prove it safe. Contains no acids, bleaches or harmful chemicals. You could soak your finest cottons and linens in Rinso suds for weeks without weakening the fabrics.

Try Rinso next washday for a whiter wash. Feel how heavy the package is. Rinso is not fluffy chips, but real granulated soap.

Best in washing machines, too!
The makers of 30 leading washers recommend Rinso for safety, and for a whiter, brighter wash. Why not try it? For economy, for best results, follow the easy directions on package.

Was something lacking—[illegible] certain [illegible] of the [illegible] ness you usually feel at this season?

You wonder what has caused the difference?

Was it not because you thought too much of the value of your gifts and paid not enough care to selecting something that would please the recipients?

If your motive was to give as good as you would receive and to spend more than you could afford, you let Christmas become a financial burden.

You robbed Christmas of its most beautiful significance.

It is the personal touch, not the money value, that makes a gift acceptable.

DAILY SHORT STORY

BON VOYAGE

By Florence Leech

[illegible]

"If your father is willing, I suppose I must give my consent, too," Mrs. Etherbridge finally stated.

"Oh, lovingingest, bestest—" began Lillian.

"Piffle," her mother cut her rhapsodies short. Nothing daunted, Lil-[illegible]

"Don't [illegible] us," Madge begged [illegible] Ralph [illegible] "Some [illegible] talk to us a while. We are so scared."

Obediently Ralph paused, then sat down suddenly as the boat lurched heavily.

"Do you honestly think we are going to sink?" Eloise asked.

"We've weathered many a gale," [illegible] Lillian insisted.

"But no small boat could live in such waves," Madge continued, as if she had vast knowledge of the ways of ships at sea.

"I don't want to die," Lillian [illegible]

"[illegible] thinks we are going to be [illegible]," Hennie cried with shaking voice to reassure the others. "[illegible] you, Ralph?"

"Perfectly safe. Storm will be [illegible] tomorrow."

"And we'll be in heaven," added [illegible]

"Talk to us, Ralph, talk to us," [illegible] urged. "Tell us—have you made many voyages?" she seized upon the first subject that presented itself.

"Been on a ship for five years," he boasted. "I am almost seventeen years old."

"Don't—don't—you [illegible] being at home with your mother," [illegible] quavered.

Ralph laughed. "[illegible]'s a stewardess on another ship. We're both sailors—good ones too."

"And your father, where is he?" Hennie continued bravely.

"He's buried at sea, off Newfoundland," Ralph returned, cheerfully, trying to [illegible]

Four pairs of eyes widened with increased terror while tears raced afresh down blanched cheeks.

"Ralph, please, please," Lillian stopped him. "Will you get me a prayer book?"

"A prayer book?" he scratched his head reflectively. "I'll try my hand."

"What good is a prayer book?" Hennie asked hopelessly. "A life preserver would be more useful."

"I cannot remember any prayers," Lillian admitted. "If I am going to die, I want to pray first."

"Oh," the others shuddered, and gave themselves up to unrestrained weeping.

Presently Lillian shakily tried to rise. "I am going to put on my new pink coat," she said. "I don't intend to be washed up on the beach in a nightgown."

Willing hands helped her into the really beautiful garment. Then the girls sat still, passively awaiting the end.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By JOHN P. MEDBURY.

AN Italian doctor has just discovered a rejuvenating treatment which he claims will make the old people's home look like a kindergarten.

THE serum is so cheap that fifty cents worth could turn a graveyard into a children's playground.

ONE shot makes you feel so peppy that you have to wear handcuffs to keep from hitting yourself in the nose.

AN eighty-year-old lady tried a dose the other day. Fifteen minutes later she sold her wheel chair and bought a baby buggy.

HER grandchildren came home that night and found her playing with dolls.

VORONOFF'S cure was also effective, but with this new treatment you don't have to put yourself under obligations to any monkey.

YOU can visit the zoo with a clear conscience.

THIS stuff is so powerful, that two drops in the gas tank will make a Ford pass a Lincoln.

THE inventor tried the treatment on a corpse the other day and in half an hour he was calling the undertaker names.

HE jumped out of the coffin and ran so fast that he made Paavo Nurmi look like Sitting Bull.

THE only thing he stopped for was his tombstone. He wanted to take it along for identification purposes.

TO show you how effective the serum was, the lily on his chest began budding.

HE ran through the fields so fast he thought the jack-rabbits were statues.

WHEN he finally slowed up, he discovered that he'd run seventy-five miles without stopping, but he felt so good he even ran back after his hat.

HE returned just in time to see his funeral procession moving down the street. Instead of trying to explain anything, he got busy and helped the horses pull the hearse.

THIS new rejuvenating treatment is a wonderful thing, and we ought to take about ten gallons of it to Washington and use it on some of our politicians who aren't officially dead.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE---BY HELEN ROWLAND

A WIFE is the step-ladder leading to heaven, to which a man hopes to cling with one hand while he hangs onto his pet sins with the other.

* * *

A man is always surprised to wake up and find that a woman or a hot-water bottle has "grown cold" while he was in a state of coma, and paying not attention to them.

* * *

When you try to convince a man that he is the cleverest, handsomest, most wonderful man on earth, he may demur a little at first; but he'll finally let you have your way about it.

No man who hasn't an entirely new batch of alibis and plenty of confidence in his imagination should marry a multiple-divorcee.

A woman may forgive a man for breaking her heart, for that may be done accidentally; but she never forgives him for deliberately breaking her spirit.

* * *

If it weren't for the wedding-gifts around the house, many a golf-widow would find it hard to realize that she was married at all.

* * *

Nothing so disappoints and disconcerts a man who has been ardently pursuing a woman, as to discover that he has caught up with her.

* * *

To a woman, a love-affair is like a mystery story; she always wants to "see how it is going to turn out;" but a man is perfectly satisfied to give all his attention to the current chapter, the current emotion—and the current kiss.

Some men step out of their responsibilities as they step out of their shoes—and just leave them around for a woman to pick up and look after.

No, dear heart, it is not love until you begin to watch the clock for an hour before he arrives—and forget to look at it again until after he's gone!

To Those Who Suffer Stomach Distress, Gas and Indigestion

All Druggists Make This Offer

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used

The way has been found to combine Pepsin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time.

Why bother with slow actors, since one tablespoonful of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy usually causes gas, bloating, heaviness, heartburn or that upset condition of the stomach, when due to excesses or faulty elimination to speedily vanish.

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or annoying stomach misery from such causes when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be easily procured?

But there is more to say about this remarkable remedy—something that will interest thousands of despondent people.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress of this sort, but is compounded to conquer stubborn indigestion or dyspepsia and put an end to dizziness, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and despondency, when these distressing troubles are caused by stomach disturbance of the kind mentioned.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has helped to put your stomach in a clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting stomach disorders caused by excesses or faulty elimination this supremely good remedy that druggists everywhere guarantee is a fine upbuilding elixir that causes you to work with vim, eat with relish and sleep soundly.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

A Sweet Stomach!

What a pity when youth and vitality are set at naught by a disordered stomach, and bad breath! Don't have them at any age! Hearty eaters—hard smokers—high livers—find Stuart's a boon and blessing!

Eat what you wish. Drink what you like. Then chew a Stuart tablet. That gives the stomach sufficient alkaline; the result is a sweet stomach serene digestion, no pains, no gas.

Full Box FREE!

Every druggist has Stuart's tablets, 25c and 60c. Or, a full box free if you write the F. A. Stuart Co., Dept., N 70, Marshall, Mich. Get a metal box of Stuart's for the pocket—and keep it filled! A sweet stomach for twenty-five cents.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, for only 75 cents." This is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

GREAT TRIP FOR LEGIONNAIRES

The Mediterranean is the mecca for travelers from all quarters of the globe. It offers exceptional opportunities for visiting some of the far-famed ports bordering on its shores and this is particularly so on the tour offered for the members of the American Legion and their friends leaving Boston on August 31 on the S. S. Martha Washington.

A special feature of the voyage is the wonderful all-day stops at Gibraltar, Spain and Algiers, Africa, with native guides who speak English on shore excursions, besides an opportunity to visit Rome for half a day. Also Naples, Messina, Sicily, and the wonderful sail around the southern end of Italy, north on the Adriatic Sea, along the picturesque Dalmatian coast, which is an endless panorama of rugged coast, scenery and beautiful landscapes.

It is off the beaten track of travel and is esteemed by those who have made the trip to be unsurpassed in grandeur. The land cruise includes Venice, Milan, Switzerland, with wonderful day rides through the Italian lake district and the Swiss and French Alps to Paris. At Paris, during the convention of the American Legion and returning to the port of Marseilles, stopping at the city of Lyons, France.

A beautiful itinerary giving complete information of tour for American Legion members and friends will be mailed upon receipt of address by Geo. E. Marsters Inc., Boston, Mass.

Readers Give Their Views On How to Be Successful

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—What is your conception of success? Readers have been sending in theirs. The deluge of letters was started by the printing in this column of a brief description of the life and character and death of a working-man's wife and mother, a sweet soul whose service to the world impressed the writer as entitling her to be regarded as having led a truly successful life.

B. C. Forbes

Charles J. Borrowman of K[illegible], Illinois, sums up success thus:

"Half of success is to be yourself. The other half is to just laugh."

HERE is how Neil J. McGee of Livermore, Cal., analyzes the question of what comprises success:

"We have defined success as the termination of an enterprise with prosperity. But that definition seems wholly inadequate for all cases. Many men of wealth admit that the mere pursuit and accumulation of money gives but little satisfaction. In many cases the pursuit of money has warped and stifled the more beautiful traits of mankind, and robbed them of the keen satisfaction that a man feels when, for instance, he has built for his loved ones a home that entailed years of sacrifice. The many thousands who live a constant struggle to provide necessities and a few comforts hardly come in touch with money, yet live lives that may be considered successful.

"I know a wonderful gentleman whose life was one of constant sacrifice. Yet his cheerful, kindly, courteous manners added sunshine to all who came within the radius of his sterling personality. But wealth eluded him. His life, the writer believes, was a grand success. His exemplary life was so impressive and powerful in example that his numerous friends would often speak of him to their younger friends in glowing terms as one worthy of imitation.

"We find many engaged in research work that entails infinite painstaking labor that is of inestimable value to mankind. Their names seldom reach the public press and no monuments are erected to their memory. Their reward in dollars and cents is often niggardly but to the writer's way of thinking they achieve success.

"When a child I had a friend, a kindly old carpenter, he had but little of the world's goods, but no childish grief was too big or too little for him to assuage. The toys that baby hands had wrecked were opportunities for his kindly soul to bring back the smile to a childish face. When he passed away all industry was suspended that a tribute might be given his memory. Success could be summed up thus: To put forth each day in our chosen field our very best effort that, by example as well as achievement, we will have made the world a little better by our efforts."

A WORKINGMAN'S contribution follows:

"The more consolation we get out of our life's work the happier we are apt to rest in our later years.

"Briefly, success to me is the consolation and assurance that one will leave the world better than he found it."

* * *

FROM A REDBANK (N. J.) business man comes this:

"Success in a general way, is the achievement of objectives; but this is entirely too vague and indefinite for the average person.

"Success from the viewpoint of most people is measured in terms of dollars; from the viewpoint of some in terms of love; others view it in terms of power. They are all partly right. But true success, as you say, consists more in giving than in getting. It comprises a moderate amount of dollars, enough to maintain a fair standard of comfort. They must be dollars which have been honestly earned, not begged or stolen, together with a moderate amount of power, enough to compel others to respect your rights and the disposition on your part to respect the rights of others; and last, but not least, the greatest possible amount of love and affection manifesting itself in the desire to serve. Happiness is the unquestioned objective of the majority, and those of us get the most of it who give the most of it."

ONE POINT emphasized apparently is that selfishness cannot create success.

ADVERTISING PRESIDENT IS REFRIGERATION HEAD

C. K. Woodbridge, president of the International Advertising Association, has been elected executive vice-president and general manager of Electric Refrigeration Corporation, having resigned as president of the Dictaphone Corporation to accept the post. He has a wide acquaintance in the advertising fields.

New York Curb

New York, Feb. 24.—The Curb market today was featured by establishment of numerous new high prices. International Silver gained 2½ points, at 127½; United Verde up ½, at 27, and Central Aguirre Sugar up ⅝, at 105. Other record prices were registered by Bamberger preferred, at 106½, and North Ohio Power at 13½. Oil stocks were quiet and steady.

Cotton Is Up

New York, Feb. 24.—Cotton prices were higher today, up 10 to 13 points. March sold at 14.05, up 13, and May 14.18, up 10.

CONSERVATIVE BUYING IS FAVORED

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor

Good opinion in State street continues conservative. It is felt buyers ought not to be swept off their feet by unbounded enthusiasm, because of the market's long rise. This does not mean no "good buys" are left in the listed markets, but rather that one should seek to avoid being "hooked in" at top prices on issues that have already enjoyed a very considerable advance.

Otis S. Brown of Cambridge, president of the Lechmere Savings Bank, has passed the 80 mark and still going strong, holds a notable position in the banking fraternity. Few men of his years can compare with him in mental and physical vigor. This is the fifty-fourth year he has paid dues, he states, in connection with his Boston Chamber of Commerce membership. That is another record very hard to beat.

Edwin Farnham Greene, treasurer of Pacific Mills, cites a case of modern economy conducted on a sane program that may have escaped your attention. He shows that these mills have already saved $1,000,000 a year. By cutting salaries, you ask? No, without cutting salaries.

Property saving a million is nearly as good as earning a million.

College teachers have recently been subjected to criticism for writing on financial matters. The criticism seems decidedly unfair in cases where they are well informed. Outstanding instances of sound financial writing are afforded by Irving Fisher, celebrated New England economist and professor at Yale, who writes weekly for the Boston Evening American, and by Prof. William Z. Ripley of Harvard.

RELIGIONS ARE ASKED TO AID

bringing about the downfall of every "source" in the United States.

JAIL AS CURE.

"When we are supplied with information about drug users it generally results in a merciful arrest. A jail sentence frequently results in a total cure, and the prisoner many times gives valuable information as to his source of supply. In this manner we have been able to round up wealthy wholesalers.

"The sufferings of an addict when he is without drugs is almost beyond description. The morphine user craving for the needle begins to perspire freely from the roots of his hair and about his eyes and nose. Cramps appear and gradually become so acute that the body doubles up until the head almost reaches the knees.

"An injection of morphine merely allows the stomach to relax to a normal condition. There is no pleasant sensation for the addict. He is simply relieved temporarily from the agony that racks his body and soul.

"The opium smoker without his pill experiences a burning sensation inside which one described to me as a 'flaming torch.' A whiff of a pill relieves the burning for a while but does not produce that delightful languorous sensation that dope propaganda describes. That comes only to the novice or occasional smoker and gradually fades as the unfortunate becomes addicted to the "pipe."

HALLUCINATIONS.

"Cocaine sniffers experience various sorts of hallucinations. Three women were in my office one day during an investigation and each told of different effects which cocaine produced. One told of hiding herself in a clothes closet for hours after she had taken the drug—standing in the darkness and waiting for the effects to wear off.

"Another, under the influence, believes that she is being pursued by hosts of rats and she lights matches and runs about the house scattering her imaginary pursuers. The third has a habit of sitting on the floor and rapping with a stick meanwhile screaming 'The Feds are coming.'

"These are among the thousands of cases that should impress the public with the danger of illicit drug traffic. It must be fought constantly and without regard to the social standing of the addict. In our work we receive valuable aid from Police Commissioner Wilson and practically every police official in New England."

ONSOLIDATED Cigar Co. of New York or subsidiary companies plan to raise 1000 acres of shade-grown tobacco on Connecticut Valley plantations this summer.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

The Task Is Continuous

Society Dare Not Relax Until the Narcotic Menace Is Scotched

American enterprise goes to extremes in evil directions not less energetically than in good.

The per capita use of narcotic drugs in this country is EIGHT times as great as in Italy, FOUR times as great as in Germany, nearly THREE times as great as in England and TWICE as great as in France.

In part, this larger use is medicinal—we are the most avid dosers in the world.

But the ALARMING fact in American use of narcotics is its rapid spread as an intoxicant among the YOUNG.

In a jazz age when youth, always adventurous, is under exceptional temptations to "try anything once," the existence of organized traffickers in illicit "dope," spurred by stupendous profits, is a social menace of the first importance.

Our policing of it has recently improved. The laws are more stringent than formerly and their enforcement is better. The number of arrests on narcotic charges has increased TENFOLD in twelve years.

But the tide of drug addiction is still flooding. Increased police vigilance carries the lure of increased profits to those who can dodge it, and lessening of the OLD-TIME moral restraints adds to the peril.

So we are driven to the favorite recourse of troubled America—education.

Narcotic Education Week is seeing a great national campaign of instruction upon this topic, conducted through many agencies with zeal and skill.

It merits earnest support.

But the chief lesson to be derived from it is that the task is continuous.

Society dare not relax until the peril is scotched.

Injustice in War Relief

One Class of Disabled Veterans Should Not Be Left to Suffer Want

A Colonel who was 30 per cent. or more disabled in the war is allowed to retire, and the army pays him three-fourths of his former pay.

Thus he gets a pension of $250 a month.

That is, he gets $250 a month if he was a Colonel in the REGULAR army.

He gets only $30 a month if he was a Colonel who went into the army as a volunteer from civilian life. Yet he commanded a regiment, performed the same wartime service as the REGULAR officer, was hit by the same kind of shell, and is now equally unable to earn a living.

Why does he get $30, when the Colonel from the REGULAR army gets $250 a month?

Well, why does the 30 per cent. disabled Major who came from civil life now get $30 a month, while the disabled Major from the Regular army gets $187.50?

Why does the disabled First Lieutenant who came from civil life get $30 a month while the disabled First Lieutenant from the REGULAR army gets $125?

Nobody can answer those questions except to say that it is an outrageous injustice against the men who volunteered or were drafted into the war.

Nobody can say they made less SACRIFICE than the wounded regular officers. Their sacrifice was greater. The men from civilian life abandoned their careers to serve their country in war. That service was the business of the regular officer, the culmination of his career.

There is no shadow of excuse for Congress taking care of one class of these disabled men while leaving the other class to suffer want.

The Tyson-Fitzgerald bill corrects this wrong by allowing disabled EMERGENCY army officers to retire on the same pension as disabled REGULAR officers.

This justice has long ago been done to emergency officers in the NAVY and MARINE CORPS.

Both House and Senate will pass the Tyson-Fitzgerald bill if they can get a chance to vote on it before adjournment on March 4.

Not even a poverty-stricken country can afford to neglect its wounded officers. Still less this nation, which is ending its fiscal year with a surplus of $400,000,000 which will be used to reduce the national debt.

Advertising Pays

Everything Needs It, From Religion to Racing

Walter Irving Clarke, who directs publicity for the Presbyterian Church, urges churches to advertise. Newspaper advertising, says he, gives results in greater church attendance.

The advice is sound. The original order was to preach divine truth to all the world. There were no newspapers in the first century, and it was necessary to spread salvation by word of mouth. Now the way to "preach to all the world" is to preach through newspapers with big circulations.

If Henry Ward Beecher or Talmadge came back and advertised, either could fill an armory. If a thing is good, let the people know.

And, to let them know, ADVERTISE.

Man Dreads Extinctions

Candles Perpetuate Him

J. Louis Schaefer, president of a national bank, left a request that candles should be used at his funeral services in St. Luke's Lutheran Church. That church made an exception for the dead man and used candles, as requested.

The burning of candles soon to be extinguished is emblematic of our own short lives. We yearn to prolong our influence here. The knowledge that even a few sputtering candles burn on by our command after we are dead comforts us. While they burn we are still represented among the living.

MONEY IS NOT ALL OF OUR CAPITAL

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ALL progress is the accumulation of capital.

Any man's force is in what has been laid up for him, by others or by himself.

We usually think that only money or things with money-value is capital.

But learning is capital. What is the young man at the medical or law school, or at the institute of technology doing except getting a working capital of information?

The apprentice learning how to run a locomotive, paint a house, manage an automobile, lay shingles, or make pastry is storing up skill-capital.

When he applies for a position he is asked not only what he can do, but what he has done; his experience is his capital.

A man's reputation is his moral capital.

A politician's record is his capital.

The soul has its capital; every triumph over an unworthy impulse, every successful struggle against an ignoble weakness, every deed of good and every resistance to the bad, enters as spiritual money, stocks, bonds, and negotiable values, into its bank of power.

Destroy all capital, or redistribute it, and the very first thing labor would do would be to begin anew to create it.

For the very purpose of labor is to make capital, as the business of bees is to make honey.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU feel pretty safe about this dope situation, don't you?

Of course dope is horrible and it does make a fellow squirm to hear that the United States has more dope addicts than any other nation in the world.

But after all, you needn't worry. You don't take dope. Your family doesn't take dope.

Why, you wouldn't go into one of those opium dens on a bet. And as for a vendor selling that stuff to that smart boy or girl of yours, or that dainty wife—fat chance! you so sure that the folks dope will never touch you. It "doesn't get folks like you."

But are you safe? And why are you so sure that the folks dope "gets" weren't like you to begin with? What do you really know of this horror? Do you even know how the habit begins?

"That's easy," you cry. "Anyone knows that. It begins with a sniff of 'snow' or a 'shot in the arm.' Maybe you're tired or sick, or maybe you just do it on a dare. That's the way it begins."

You're Wrong.

You're wrong, my friend. That isn't the way the dope habit usually begins. It doesn't begin in a gaudy hop joint nor in the wheedling whisper of a vendor. It does not start with pill or pipe or hypo.

It starts inside. Inside a body. A body like yours or mine.

A common, human body possessed by human cussedness—a body that is a little lazy, cowardly, weak and impatient, a little inclined to be peevish and sorry for itself. A body that doesn't like to be pestered—that likes to shirk responsibility and duck trouble. A body that has probably boasted that it "wouldn't go into an opium den on a bet"—even as you and I! That's where the dope habit begins—inside a body like that.

Now the body doesn't start by taking dope. It would be insulted at the very suggestion. But one day it wakes up tired, or not quite fit. To make things worse there's company coming for dinner or extra work to be done at the office. By the middle of the day the body feels "like something the cat dragged in."

"This won't do," it says to itself. "Got to get through the day somehow. My nerves are all on edge. Guess I'd better take some bromide, or an aspirin tablet or some of those new powders I heard about. Can't be anything harmful in stuff like that—buy it at any drug store."

So the bromide or the tablet is taken and the day is saved.

Well, what's the harm in that? Bromides aren't "habit forming." No, bromides aren't habit forming.

Habit Forming.

But characters are habit forming. Characters form habits of being strong or weak, brave or cowardly, proud or shifty. Characters learn to stand up to reality, or run away from it. And bromide or veronal or phenacetin, or any of the long list of "hypnotics" help characters to run away from reality. And with each escape the longing for escape increases—pride and courage lessen.

No, there's no dope habit yet.

But there's a cowardice habit—a laziness habit—and cowardice and laziness are as deadly as any morphine.

Then comes the day when there is a real test to be met—severe pain to be endured, grave responsibility to be borne. And the old secret vice asserts itself again. Not the dope vice, but the escape-from-reality vice.

AND THAT'S WHERE THE DOPE COMES IN!

For the body that has learned to duck trouble, and has asked the "harmless" bromide or pellet to help that escape, now reaches out furtively for "something stronger" to meet the larger trouble.

"Just for this once," it whispers to itself.

"Well, just once more," it says again. "It sure fixed me up great last time and didn't do me any harm."

Once—once more—and yet once more—AND THEN THE GATES OF HELL.

That's how the habit begins.

Not in the deliberate step from which any sane person would turn in horror. But in ignorance and weakness—in false self-confidence—in cowardice and coddling—in secret surrenders—.

In the hidden weakness of a common body—.

A body like yours and mine!

On the Top of World

By Garrett P. Serviss,

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Subjects of Popular Interest.

"A THOUGHT that the entire globe may not be round has come to my mind. I suppose I am wrong, but will you please tell me? Water when put into a receptacle is always flat across the top. The globe shows us the earth as a perfectly round object. Doesn't that make the ocean higher in the middle of two points—London and New York? According to the laws of gravitation, why isn't the ocean flat across the top from London to New York?—A. L. S.

DON'T let that idea upset you. Go back to fundamental principals and your mind will right itself like a well-ballasted boat.

First, the law of gravitation itself shows that the earth, being suspended in space, with nothing to rest upon and with all its particles pulling one another, must, for its own internal ease and as a matter of simple adjustment to circumstances, have a globular form.

That is why raindrops are round, and why a bit of molten lead falling in a shot tower takes the shape of a little ball before it reaches the bottom. All the particles crowd toward a common centre, and the mass is in equilibrium only when all are virtually arranged in concentric spherical shells.

So gravitation, at the very start, tells us that particles of a body of water, which are free to move among one another, must assume a position of mutual equilibrium, which implies accordance with the spherical shape of the earth. Accordingly we may safely begin with the assumption that it is not possible for the surface of the ocean between London and New York to be flat. And experience proves this assumption to be right.

You affirm that the surface of water in a receptacle is always "flat across." That is a mistake due to the fact that you are so large in comparison with the area of water you are looking at while that area is so small in comparison with the size of the earth.

There are many things visible to the mathematical eye that are beyond the range of the physical eye, and this is one of them. The surface of the water in your washbasin is convex, but it has a radius of curvature 4,000 miles long! When however, the water surface is several miles across, although its curvature may not directly affect the eye, it can easily be made manifest by careful levelling.

At sea the horizon is so clearly below the level of the eye that in all observations made with navigating instruments allowance has to be made for "the dip of the horizon."
